Dedication

In appreciation of the inspirational leadership shown by him, we wish to dedicate "Spartan Life 1960" to Mr. Allen E. Hellner.

His understanding and capable guidance have given a fuller meaning to high school education.

A. S. B. Officers

Left to right: Sue Coake, A.S.B. Secretary; Kirk Mortenson, A.S.B. President; Tom Almojuela, A.S.B. Vice-president; Ric Cederwall, A.S.B. Treasurer.

The numerous duties and obligations which must be fulfilled by our A.S.B. officers require much responsibility and hard work. The president takes charge of assembles, student council meetings, and keeps a close watch on nearly all school activities. The main function of the vice-president is the handling of the yearly magazine drive. The duties required of the secretary are the taking of minutes at executive board, A.S.B., and student council meetings. The treasurer manages funds for all clubs and organizations sponsored by the A.S.B.

In the Many Experiences . . .

Student Council

Our student council has served us well during the past year. This organization comprized of students meets twice a month on alternating weeks. Their more notable accomplishments have been instigating a foreign exchange student program, solving problems of congestion in the halls, and promoting more class spirit among the members of the student body.

Something new has been added to the annual this year. The "note of color" found within its 92 pages characterizes one of the changes we, the staff, have made to make this year's "Spartan Life" a little more interesting and different. We hope you will like these changes and agree that they do make life at B.H.S. more "colorful."

An athletic contest isn't just a game to be won or lost. It is a deeply meaningful experienc in the lives of the players.

A boy is required to follow a strict set of rules to either abide or be dismissed from the team—thus experiencing the discipline so essential in our society. He learns that proper mental attitude just does not appear; rather, it is something that is planned, developed and nurtured to a point where it becomes an important part in the boy's overall personality.

He receives a vivid lesson in competition. He learns: (1) That he must get along with his teammates. (2) That he will have to work hard to make the team. (3) That things won't always go his way. (4) That the only way to prevent these setbacks is through finding out what caused them and then trying to eliminate them by self-improvement.

These are but a few of the many benefits to be derived from athletic competition.

When the books close, and the last bell rings,
And carefree days are lost to mundane
things -
When nostalgia strikes, and your memory
wanes,
And you remember the faces but not the names -
Pick up your yearbook and leaf it through,
And remember the days so dear to you.
